Huron Tractor Now Offering SoilWarrior® Zone Tillage Equipment

Faribault, MN – Environmental Tillage Systems (ETS) announces that Huron Tractor Ltd. will now be selling and supporting the SoilWarrior® name in the province of Ontario, Canada. Based out of Exeter, Huron Tractor will sell SoilWarrior® zone tillage and nutrient application equipment throughout their sales territory. This new partnership allows ETS to expand their sales efforts and reach a growing strip-tillage market.

The Soil Warrior name was previously sold and supported by Scott and Wayne Cantelon of Cantelon Farms Ltd. Based out of the Seaforth area. The Cantelons have been zone-tilling for decades and have witnessed the advantages of running a SoilWarrior first hand.

“At Huron Tractor we are continuously looking for new ways to better serve our customers. Whether that means experimenting with tillage practices, fertilizer, technology or equipment in general, we want to work with our growers to identify and validate new and exciting trends,” said Nick Studnicka, General Manager of Marketing for Huron Tractor Ltd. “At the end of the day we want to do what we can to ensure that our customers have the equipment and the information they need to help their businesses succeed.”

ETS has experienced significant growth in recent history, a trend that is expected to continue as more growers realize the benefits of focusing on soil health. “We are excited to launch this partnership with Huron Tractor,” said Brent Brueland, Sales VP of Environmental Tillage Systems. “ETS is in a prime position to expand and reach our next business milestone with the support from the Huron Tractor sales and service team.”
