

April 11th 2017,

Huron Tractor Ltd and Orthman Manufacturing are proud to announce that they will be teaming up to address a re-emerging tillage trend in Ontario that is better known as “strip-till” or “zone-till”. Going forward, Huron Tractor will sell and support the Orthman 1tRIPr zone-till Precision Tillage implement. The Orthman1tRIPr is known to be one of the leaders in precision strip-till systems around the world and has more acres under its belt than any other strip till solution. The 1tRIPr is available in over 25 mounted or pull type configurations in 4- to 18-row sizes with 22” to 40” spacing and uses Orthman’s time-tested rigid, folding and drawn toolbars.

“We are excited to see what the future holds for tillage in Ontario. We have equipped ourselves with the people, technology and equipment to satisfy any tillage method or system,” said Nick Studnicka, General Manager of Marketing for Huron Tractor Ltd.

"Orthman’s objective to provide quality tools for the producer to be more efficient and productive applies not only in the U.S., but around the world. As an allied partner, Huron Tractor has a unique opportunity to provide advanced equipment and expertise to support the growth of agriculture on a global scale," said Rod Haarberg, senior vice president of marketing for Orthman.
